Lisa Chavez ~ Mezzo Soprano

Lisa Chavez, Mezzo Soprano, has been described by her “plush storm of a voice” and “graceful stage presence”. In the 22/23 season she made 4 role debuts. She started the fall with Cimarosa’s comedy Il matrimonio segreto singing Fidalma with Sarasota Opera. Then in February Lisa made her company debut with Opera Tampa singing Adalgisa in Norma. Lisa returned to Sarasota Opera to sing the title role in Massenet’s rarely performed Thérèse, and finally in April she returned to Knoxville Opera as Marcellina in their production of Le nozze di Figaro.

23/24 Chavez began with a role debut as Orlovsky in Die Fledermaus with Opera in Williamsburg and joined Opera San José as Cherubino for the reading of the new opera Zheng by Shinji Eshima. Lisa was also the Mezzo Soloist for Shreveport Opera’s 75th Anniversary gala concert. In May she will be joining the Savannah Philharmonic as the Mezzo Soloist in Verdi’s Requiem.

Her first performance post pandemic was her debut as Dido Queen of Carthage in Sarasota Opera’s Dido and Aeneas in the Spring of 2021, then over the summer was featured in a series of concerts with New York City Opera in Bryant Park. She sang the title role in Carmen, was Mezzo Soloist in the concert Now That’s What I Call Opera, and Maddalena in Rigoletto which was also performed at the Phoenicia Festival of the Voice. The 18/19 season ended with her originating the role of Maggie in the World Premiere of Iain Bell’s Stonewall with New York City Opera. “Heading a superb cast was Lisa Chavez as the tough Maggie, flinging out compact mezzo tone(s) like fists.” the Observer. Lisa began that season with a role debut singing Rosina in Sarasota Opera’s production of Il Barbiere di Siviglia. “By far the most impressive singing of the evening came from Lisa Chavez, who enchanted everyone as last season’s Carmen .... In describing her sound, “honeyed chocolate” is about as close as one can get.” She then returned to Sarasota for the ‘19 Winter Festival in another role debut, Fenena, of Verdi’s Nabucco. Chavez also made an anticipated return to Washington Opera Society in another Verdi debut as Amneris in Aida.

The 17/18 season included many performances of the title role in Carmen which is looking to become a signature role for her. She returned to Sarasota Opera for all 11 sold out performances of Carmen in their Winter 2018 season. She immediately followed Sarasota with Carmen performances with Opera in Williamsburg as well as with Washington Opera Society in D.C. Past season Carmen productions include performances as Guest Artist with Opera San José, and performances with New York City Opera.

In addition to Stonewall, Lisa has been seen in multiple American operas. She was recently seen singing the title role in the New York premiere of Tobias Picker's Dolores Claiborne with New York City Opera. This was the opera's first performance since its debut at SFO. Other English language operas performed include, Dinah in Trouble in Tahiti, Secretary in The Consul, and Madame Volanges in Dangerous Liaisons. In November 2008 Ms. Chavez was a finalist in the worldwide Opera Competition with Mezzo TV, and was seen via live telecast performing the role of Elizabeth Proctor in Robert Ward's The Crucible in over 40 European countries. She was invited to return to the festival in November 2009 to sing the role of Mrs. Bass for the European premiere of Tobias Picker's dramatic work Emmeline, also televised on Mezzo TV.

Ms. Chavez made her debut with Sarasota Opera in the iconic role of Madame de Croissy of Dialogues of the Carmelites as part of their 2017 Winter season. In 2016 Chavez sang the role of Paula in New York City Opera's production of Florencia en el Amazonas to great acclaim and was the Alto Soloist in Mahler's Symphony No. 2 with Billings Symphony Orchestra & Chorale.

For the 13/14 and 14/15 season she was a principal resident artist with Opera San José. While there she debuted 7 new roles. Isabella in L'Italiana in Algeri was the crowning jewel to her tenure at OSJ. Georgia Rowe from Opera News wrote, "Lisa Chavez ... glided through Isabella's arias with assurance; her buttery, richly colored mezzo was evenly produced throughout her range, sounding shapely in Act I's "Cruda sorte!" registering with luxuriant ease and beauty in her Act II invocation of Venus, "Per lui che adoro," and emerging with bright, forward tone in the ensembles. Chavez is a graceful stage presence, and there was no doubting her character's intelligence and resourcefulness. "Pensa alla patria" was her most convincing moment." Other roles sung during tenure with Opera San Jose were; Donna Elvira in Don Giovanni, Hansel in Hansel and Gretel, Maddalena in Rigoletto, Harriet Herriton in the professional premiere of Where Angels Fear to Tread, Suzuki in Madama Butterfly, Meg Page in Falstaff, and Third Lady in Die Zauberflöte.

In 2013 Chavez won First Place and Audience Choice awards in the Irma M. Cooper Vocal Competition with Opera Columbus, and also placed Third in the Irene Dalis Vocal Competition in San Jose.
